AT THE BROWNSVILLE BAPTIST CHURCH

By NATHAN C. BROOKS, JR.

The Blood Bank informs me that our account is overdrawn. At the present time our church is due the bank six pints of blood that we are behind. The demands that are made upon the account are rather heavy at times. Your help is needed now to put our church in the position to answer the valid calls that come. Please notify the church office if you can go to 810 N. Palafox and make a blood donation. The blood is needed now.

The Annie Armstrong Offering now totals $1119.62.

The Courage of Moderation—I like the editorial by that title prepared by Dr. S. H. Jones, Editor of The Baptist Courier. See what you think of it. Here it is:

"It requires courage for one to maintain an attitude and position of moderation when there is a popular tendency to go to extremes. It is easier to go with the crowd which takes an extreme position than it is to hold one's ground for a more moderate point of view and less drastic action. To be sure, there are limits to the application of the 'middle of the road' philosophy; but it has merit. It takes courage to 'walk in the middle' because one who does so might be 'shot at' from either side. Still there are situations in which neither extreme is right; and, in such a situation, one should have the courage to stand for the right.

"To follow one's convictions is more courageous than to follow one's impulses, and conviction is more likely to be moderate and deliberate than to be extreme and impulsive. Conviction comes after thoroughful consideration of all the facts available and of all the known courses of action and their probable consequences. It takes courage to do such thinking when many have already formed prejudicial opinions and are urging drastic action with extreme statements. Then, it takes more courage to stand against the conflicting currents of excitement and conflict. In other words, it takes true courage to support a reasonable position when many are not being reasonable.

"Those who 'take sides' quickly and go 'all out' for their 'side' may appear to be very courageous when actually they may be only engaging in heroics and going with their chosen company with very limited understanding and not much concern and courage. True courage and good judgment go well together, it seems."
