Growing Minds

I believe that the Creator gave us minds with which to think, to search and find, to ask questions. What could be more stupid than a child with no questions about life, than a grown man or woman who is completely unconcerned with all that happens around him or her? God gave us brains to use, and not as terminals for our spinal cords. And I think He was wise to put some things forever just beyond the grasp of the finite mind, so that we might never become self-satisfied "know-it-alls" but always seeking, seeking, seeking. Who has any respect for a religion without mystery, without unexplored country to explore? — Iona Henry with Frank S. Mead, in Triumph over Tragedy (The Fleming H. Revell Company).

Let Me Share with you some quotations from others that have blessed me recently. I hope they will mean something to you, too.

1. An Evaluation of Self—"It is an article of faith in my creed to pick the man who does not take himself seriously, but does take his work seriously."—Michael C. Cahill, Highway of Happiness.

2. Sermons—"It was C. H. Spurgeon, I think, who one day after a morning service was confronted by a lady who said to him, 'Mr. Spurgeon, that was a wonderful sermon you preached this morning.' He replied, 'Yes, ma'am. The devil told me that ten minutes ago.'

What we need in our churches today—urgently, desperately—is not that people should come to hear a preacher, and then tell him what a good (or bad) sermon he preached, but that they should leave the house of God saying "What a wonderful Lord!" When all praise is given to Him and taken from man, a Church rises in spiritual temperature and becomes irresistible."—Alan Redpath in Victorious Praying (The Fleming H. Revell Company).

3. A Good Attitude—"I submit that it is poor grace to find fault with those who are in the thick of the battle and in the current of God's redeeming grace by one who is not willing to enter the struggle himself with utter abandon. All such critics should remember that God has said, 'Woe to them that are at ease in Zion.' The infirmities of age or disability may force me to take my place on the sidelines. But I promise here and now that I will not throw brickbats and hurl criticisms at those who are carrying the load of our Southern Baptist program. I shall boost and cheer and pray for those who are in the thick of the battle in the main current of God's redeeming grace."—Former Editor B. H. Duncan, Arkansas Baptist.
