THEY

(A Parable For Our Time)

There was a man (or woman) who lived in the twentieth century. His house was new, two cars and a boat graced his garage and carport, color television gleamed in his den, his family was healthy, and lo, good fortune did smile upon him.

As was his custom — when he was in town, when the fish were not biting, when he was not on the beach or at the lake, when company did not come, when he could get up on time, when not too tired, and when nothing else he could do — he went regularly to church. On these occasions, once every five or six weeks, he spent his time deploring the decaying state of the church. The Sunday School was low in attendance, the choir was scanty, the congregation was small, the offering was poor, the preacher was discouraged, and something called "Training Union" was about shot! "They ought to do better," he said. "What do 'they' think this thing of religion is about anyway? Surely 'they' could do better than this."

And so vacations and days off came and went until many moons had passed. As is the way of the world, this man's children grew up. He knew they did not go to church because "they" down at the church had not interested them in religion. The man's health failed. One day, he noticed something strange — "they" down at the church came by no more — "they" did not visit him in the hospital. Verily, verily, he was angry!

But being a great heart, he decided he would forgive "them" and go to church once more. But behold, when he arrived, there was no church — only a 7-11 store. "Where is the church?" he demanded. "Dead" was the answer.

"Oh," he moaned, 'they' should not have let it die!"

A LETTER TO MY GRADUATE . . .

This week 34 of our finest young people will graduate from high school. I do not know the name of the parent who wrote this letter to "My Graduate" but I do know that this parent gives eloquent expression to the way every parent of a graduating senior feels.

"I cannot buy you a set of morals; I cannot build you a sense of responsibility; I cannot hand you appreciation of beauty; I cannot manufacture for you concern and compassion; I cannot make yours a compelling, faithful, loyal spirit; I cannot give you ability to love.

"I have no fortune to will you with which to gain popularity, make you a philanthropist, or help you leave memorials for charity.

"I own no secret formula for success nor any new philosophy. I've never written a book of wisdom.

"I cannot send you away into the world on your own, with beautiful pictures only in your memory, for you have seen me cry faithless tears of despair; you have seen me shake my fist in anger; you have witnessed ugliness in my time of weakness.

"These things I cannot give you are all yours in Christ Jesus.

"As you accept your diploma, severing your relations with high school, you step into new relations with parents, friends, and the world. The 'apron-strings' that have been lengthened as you matured must soon be cut. You have earned more than freedom from high school. You have proven yourself trustworthy, dependable, and mature enough to try your own wings, but I will be 'on-call' throughout my life.

"You are fully accountable to God, your Heavenly Father, who loves you far more than I; who has riches in store beyond your comprehension, but who expects much, punishes, sees and knows—also beyond your comprehension.

"I commit you to this care as the fire of the world tests the gold of your character—and I will be in prayer.

—A Parent"

I'll look forward to seeing you—and your graduating senior Sunday!

Faithfully your pastor,

James L. Pleitz
