THE SEAGLE SAY:

God blessed!

That's how I see our family of faith. God blessed! God gifted! God called! Called to:

- exemplary love;
- sacrificial giving;
- building family;

a family that loves each other unconditionally; a family that exhibits patience; a family that refuses to destroy each other or hurt each other in any way;

- go: go share; go care; go assist; go in Jesus' name!

Spoiled...

could describe us as a family. There is a sense in which those blessed most become spoiled, uncomplimentary and "picky." That's a dangerous place to be. Reason? Simple!

- We find it difficult to celebrate the finest programs I know of--and getting better. Instead of celebration--if not careful--we become "picky," determined to find every flaw and exploit it!

- We find it impossible to give thanks, express gratitude, or celebrate God's goodness among us.

One of our members who speaks regularly across our area said--"We are spoiled by the wonderful music, great worship, missions going and giving and wonderful programs." Translation--we are spoiled!

Spoiled isn't bad unless it makes us selfish, "picky" and critical. We must all understand that this family of faith:

- is in a state of becoming;
- has not seen its best days;
- must always dream the dream of God;
- must become reconciled family members who look for and find the best in each other.

My hope?

-Patience.

-Love, unconditional.

-Freedom to be what God has called us to be.

-Celebrate our humanity and we are all just that--men and women--human beings.

-Give permission to fail as well as succeed.

-Become a people who will not tolerate any disruption that would destroy a member of this body--but--who will allow enough space and time for all to get well in this "spiritual hospital."

Is this possible? Absolutely! But--it all depends on all of us and each of us.

I'll see you 1500 strong Sunday.
